Mr. B. C. Harrover, who is visiting Prof. J. P. Evans, gave an interesting talk to the Pyerian Literary society November 19.

The Northeastern State Normal enrollment list is growing larger every day notwithstanding this term will soon be a pleasant memory of the past.

One of our lady teachers apparently not very accustomed to rocks wrote to one of her friends, "It is so rocky here that I stumble over them in daytime, and fall over them at night, and have a "Stone" for a room-mate.

That the Y. W. C. A. is progressing splendidly in its work is manifested in being able to send two delegates to the Y. W. C. A. convention held at Winfield, Kansas.

One hundred and fifty-three visitors in our halls and class rooms on the morning of the sixteenth indicates that the city of Tahlequah is interested in our affairs and loyal to the Northeastern Normal.

Miss Rose Hasebarger and Mrs. Annie Hale, both of West Virginia, who are visiting in the home of Prof. Pack, visited the Normal with Mrs. Pack and mother, who is spending the winter with her son.

Dr. Neil, one of our enterprising dentists, sang a solo to the Y. M. C. A. on November 7, which was greatly enjoyed. We appreciate the interest the citizens are taking in our Y. M. C. A.

The physical geography class under the direction of Prof. Ford went geologizing a few days ago, and found some very interesting fossils, etc., in the country around us.

A reading room has been established at the Normal and systematic courses of reading are being outlined for the pupils. A bulletin is made of all the new articles and current events of the day.

The College Widow will be one of the features at the close of this term's work. This play has been produced successfully in some of our colleges and there is positive evidence that it will be made a success here. The plot is laid in a western college. This play reveals to the public some of the incidences in a student's life that ordinarily would not have been detected. club insures a jolly hour to the ones who come to hear it.

The participants in the play are mainly students of expression and by the aid of Miss Davis it is sure to be a success.

FOR THE THINKLESS.

Thanksgiving Day is upon us, and we have ventured to compile a little list of things to be thankful for for the man with a groucher, who cannot see that he has had any noticeable amount of blessing during the past year.

I. You should be thankful that nobody from an air-ship has dropped a
