mathematics, history, English, science, ancient and modern languages, we have the following special departments: Pedagogy, domestic science, agriculture, manual training, vocal and instrumental music, oratory, art, complete commercial course and athletics. Scientific physical instruction is given to our students by specially equipped instructors.

No. 7. While the intellectual and physical development of our students is amply provided for, so also is attention given to moral training. The faculty consists of Christian men and women who, working through the school, and in conjunction with the pastors of the different churches of our city, combine to furnish a splendid spiritual environment.

No. 8. Who may enter this school?

Any young man or woman of good moral character, who has finished the eighth grade in the public schools, may enroll in this Normal. There are no tuition fees of any kind. The state pays the salaries of the faculty and furnishes all the equipment and material. Transportation, board and books are all the expenses to be met by the pupil.

No. 9. Who should attend this school?

Every young man or woman who desires a State certificate to teach in Oklahoma or in any one of eighteen other States where our certificate is valid. Every young man or woman intending to enter college of the university should get his preparation here. Everyone desiring a special course in agriculture, domestic science, manual training, vocal and instrumental music, oratory and art, will find what is desired here. Every young man or woman, who desires a thorough business course, including review in English, shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping and penmanship, should come to the Northeastern. All the above courses in all the above mentioned departments are absolutely free.

No. 10. To recapitulate: We have an ideal and healthful location, the largest school building in the State, an unsurpassed faculty, splendid intellectual and spiritual environment, and an enthusiastic student body of nearly three hundred.
